

SHOW ME SHORTS FILM FESTIVAL

2010 PROGRAMME

WWW.SHOWMESHORTS.CO.NZ

WELCOME

If you've never attended one of our sessions of short films before, you are in for a real treat. If you are a returning audience member, welcome back!

Selecting our programme line up this year has been the toughest and most rewarding yet, due to increased numbers of entries from filmmakers with an ever-growing level of skill and inventiveness.

This November we present you once again with our picks of the 40 best short films from New Zealand and Australia. The films are divided into six themed sessions, with six or seven films in each, so you can pick one or really indulge and view them all. The six themes for 2010 are: Imagination, Kissing Games, Noir Motive, Child's Play, Redemption and High Stakes.

You will find here films that are playful, surprising, mesmerizing, suspenseful and more. Emerge from one of our sessions moved in some way - to laughter or tears - and proud as we are that there are people in our communities telling such a variety of interesting stories.

Our 2010 Show Me Shorts programme includes a sampling of the best coming of age stories from New Zealand, which seems to be rather a genre of specialty here. Sadly many New Zealand and Australian filmmakers acknowledge the impact of loss on their lives this year with films about cancer sufferers, and the way their families deal with this disease. We applaud their bravery in turning these challenges into the tales of hope and love that have emerged.

On a brighter note, our fifth birthday this year is a milestone worth acknowledging. Show Me Shorts has happily grown into a respected and anticipated annual event in the calendar of film lovers. This year sees the addition of even more new cinema locations, as well as our inaugural Short Film Lab. Our successful seminars on short filmmaking were so popular last year that we have decided to make them a regular feature. Read on for more about these, and all of the impressive short films on offer throughout the festival, in a cinema near you.

Enjoy the shorts!

Festival Director

WORKSHOPS

Building on the success of last year's workshops, we are proud to present Starnow.com Short Film Seminars, open to the general public in Auckland and Wellington. We are also proud to introduce the new 2010 Short Film Lab, in partnership with Script to Screen.

Starnow.com Short Film Seminars

A panel of established filmmakers, including international award-winners, present some of their recent work and discuss the joys and challenges of short filmmaking. The seminars include screenings of some excellent short films and a question and answer session with the audience.

Auckland Academy Cinemas
Monday 8th November, 7:30pm

Wellington Paramount
Monday 15th November, 7:30pm

Book and buy tickets at regular session prices directly through the cinemas. Be in quick as seats are limited!

The seminar presenters will be confirmed shortly. Visit www.showmeshorts.co.nz for updates; or for more information contact emma@showmeshorts.co.nz

Short film lab

Show Me Shorts and Script to Screen are proud to present the 2010 Short Film Lab. Our inaugural full-day lab offers selected filmmakers a unique opportunity to develop their ideas for short film. Participants in the workshop will be mentored by experienced industry practitioners who have excelled in short filmmaking, including producer Ainsley Gardiner (Boy, Eagle vs Shark, Two Cars One Night, Tama Tu), writer/director Mark Albiston (Run, The Six Dollar Fifty Man), and screenwriter and academic Shuchi Kothari (Firaaq, Apron Strings, Coffee and Allah). Applications closed on September 10. The successful applicants, who will be participating free of charge in the lab at the University of Auckland are: Renae Maihi, Rose McIver, Simon Hansen, Kelly Joseph, Sam Bunkall and Lauren Jackson.

These events are proudly supported by the New Zealand Film Commission.

OPENING NIGHTS

This year we have two opening night events, which will be held at our partner cinemas in Auckland city and Wellington.

The Auckland Opening Night and Awards Ceremony marks the official opening of the 2010 festival. Here, the winners in all eight prize categories will be announced for the first time and the winning films played. The award categories are:

- Kodak Best Film
- Screen Hub Best Student Film
- Panavision Best Cinematographer
- Script to Screen Best Screen Play
- SDGNZ Best Director
- SDGNZ Best Editor
- StarNow.com Best Actor
- Special Jury Prize

The Wellington Opening Night will screen the winning short films from all award categories.

Each of the opening night events will begin with complimentary drinks before the winning films are played. Festival organisers will attend, along with winning filmmakers and industry representatives.

Auckland opening night and awards ceremony 7:30pm
Thursday 4 November
